

To our Annie's List family,

We are disappointed, but endlessly proud of the work we and supporters like you put in to flip the Texas House this cycle. While we didn't see all of the gains we hoped for, we did send a message that Texans are ready and willing to put up a fight for progress in our beloved state.

We want to thank all of the Annie's List Champions and Endorsed Candidates who were on yesterday's ballot, and congratulate everyone who came out on top! We know the courage it takes to run for office and we are so grateful for the commitment they each hold to our values. You'll no doubt hear more about their hard-fought races, their successes, and the collective impact they'll have during this upcoming legislative session. We hope you'll join us in following their next steps.

Annie's List is, and will remain, dedicated to electing progressive, pro-choice women to state and local seats across Texas. Our fight is far from over, and we will continue to break down barriers for years to come.

Today, we're glued to the news (as we're sure you are too) awaiting the results of the presidential election. Tomorrow and for the next several weeks, we'll do what we've always done post-election -- take a long, hard look at the results and analyze a path forward for next time. We'll continue to recruit women to run for office, continue to train campaign staff and future candidates, and we will build on the lessons of this cycle by sending Republicans packing in 2022.

We know we can count on you to stay in this fight with us.

Thanks again for your continued support,
The Annie's List Team
